Nurse Manager (Qualification Pack)

Introduction

After completing the Qualification pack learners will be able to: Apply the management principles and elements of management in day-to-day supervision and management of nursing services in clinical and non-clinical areas, public health units, and education institutions. Will collaborate with support services and departments to provide various ancillary and support services for smooth functioning of ward/department. Participate in selection, recruitment, supervision, training of nursing officers, Plan organise staff development activities and participate as team member in various committees. Nurse manager will be able to manage resources and indent in ward. Participate in quality assurance activities, nursing audit, NABH activities and take care of patient safety issues. As accreditation is very crucial and nursing services are crucial part of hospital nurse manager will learn about nursing excellence standards and implement in hospital.

Nurse Manager Job Role QP is essential because responsibilities of nurses are increasing over time and nurse manager needs to be involved in decision making, planning, establishing procedures, be a team member for quality assurance, accreditation and involved in patient safety. This is supported by various studies, national and international reports. Therefore, Nurse Manager QP is designed and developed which will enhance managerial skills of nurse managers at national and international level.

Note It is approved in NSQC 40th meeting dated 22-10-2024 at Level 5.5 as per NCVET guidelines.

Healthcare Sector

Healthcare sector in India is a complex sector where public sector (Government), private sector and non-government organisations play crucial role in providing quality comprehensive services to people. Government had made various efforts to achieve universal health coverage and sustainable development goals (Goal 3). With the advancement of knowledge and technology healthcare sector is advancing very fast. Managing healthcare sector is a challenge for medical and nursing managers and administrators. As we know healthcare management is a growing occupation in health industry and one of the major workforces in healthcare industry are nurses. They provide care to patients in 3 shifts and manage various departments and wards. Nurses need to have basic knowledge and skills to manage the wards and departments. It is important to understand that knowledge and skills related to healthcare management helps the nurse manager to plan, direct, coordinate, provides leadership and give direction to nursing department/services so that quality patient care is provided and smooth coordination with various departments can be achieved. As we know healthcare organisation is a complex institution it needs dynamic leader who can lead the nursing department/services at various levels, supervise the staff especially at first level and coordinate with utility and support departments so that patients, relatives and staff are satisfied. Nurse Manager at first level plan, organise, direct, supervise, coordinate services, resources and staff at ward/department level. Responsible for day-to-day supervision, monitoring, reporting and handling conflicts and finding solutions to handle the problems.

Qualification Pack – Nurse Manager at NSQF Level 5.5 will help you to understand healthcare sector, policies, finance, changing role of hospital, consumer behaviour, basics of management and apply the principles and elements of management in day-to-day work to lead, coordinate and manage resources and understanding change in organisation behaviour and culture as a nurse manager (ward in-charge).
